[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO OCTOBER 20.

The Eastern Elections.

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—The Chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, Iowa, announces that the election returns thus far indicate that Stone's majority will be about sixteen thousand. The Legislature will be three fourths Republican.

NEW YORK, Oct 16.—A special to the Tribune, dated Columbus, Ohio, says returns from all the counties give Cox a majority of 28,287, while the average majority of the State ticket is about thirty thousand. The Legislature stands Union 75, Democratic 12. In the Senate Union 4[illegible] and 1[illegible] Democrats in the House. The soldiers' vote will not be counted till next month.

Fenian Convention in Philadelphia—Fenians in Europe

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—The Express' special from Philadelphia says about five hundred delegates were present at the National Convention of Fenians. They were sitting with closed doors. Additional delegates are arriving. John O'Mearn presiding. Rumors of the most exciting order are afloat. One is that a plan for a provisional government or Irish Directory will be urged, with authority to issue bonds, commission privateers, etc.

Important private advices are said to have been received in cypher by steamer at Farther Point.

The Liverpool correspondent of the London Times says the Fenian agitation is still rife in Liverpool. There being no special vigilance on the part of the police, drills and meetings for discussion are conducted with comparative freedom during the present week. Numerous meetings have been held. They were attended not alone by men of lower ranks, but by persons of considerable means. At these meetings resolutions were adopted to support the Fenian objects and organization by money and by physical aid if it is necessary. The question was discussed of the purchase of vessels, and the formation of an armament for privateering purposes. The idea of preying on English commerce seems to be keenly relished. A resolution to carry out objects of this kind was put and carried with enthusiasm and much violent language. As a proof, however, that the resolutions were not mere froth, a call was made for subscriptions, and in a few minutes nearly £200 were laid down. With the exception of the vaporing style of talk which might be expected on such occasions, the proceedings were orderly, the minutes were read of previous meetings and a memorandum was made of the resolutions above set forth, by the person who acted as Secretary.

It is feared, with regard to the royal navy reserve that the Fenian disaffection has spread considerably. A strong feeling is entertained in town in favor of a vigorous and prompt canvass of both the volunteer and naval reserve forces in order to discover the recusants.

The Liverpool Post says: "In accordance with orders from the Government, on Monday there was an investigation on board H. M. S. Eagle, with a view to ascertain whether there was any disaffection among the members of the royal navy reserve at this port. We are glad to learn that the result is that not a single case of Fenianism has been tracked to the naval reserve. The Fenian book which came into the possession of the police Monday, is a little page book. Its title runs thus: 'Proceedings of the First National Convention of Fenian Brotherhood, held in Chicago, Illinois, November, 1863.' Many of the names are those of officers in the Fenian army.

The Northern and Southern Press.

NEW YORK, Oct 16.—The relations of 1850 and 1861 between the Associated Press and the Southern Press are again resumed. There is now a daily interchange of Northern, Southern and Western, direct from the central office in this city, with every daily journal. The recent difficulties between the papers in New Orleans are adjusted.

The Charleston Courier of Tuesday says: The efforts of Julien Mitchel, of this city, who has for some time been laboriously urging on the Government the propriety of restoring the lands to the original owners, have at last met with complete success. An order will be issued making full restitution.

Steamers from New York to Aspinwall.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—The Pacific Mail Company have advertised their steamers for Aspinwall, connecting with their steamers for San Francisco. The Henry Chauncey sails November 1st, the Atlanta on the 11th, and the Bolivar on the 21st. The prices to Aspinwall are $125, $80 and $50. Through routes to San Francisco, $350, $250 and $125.

TORONTO, C. W., Oct. 16.—Dr. Blackburn, of yellow fever notoriety has been admitted to bail on his own recognizance.

Steamboat burned at New Madrid.

CAIRO, Oct. 17.—The steamer Bellmont on route for St. Louis from Memphis with 300 tons of freight and sixty passengers was burned at New Madrid, Mo., at 6 o'clock yesterday. The flames spread so rapidly that there was barely time to run the boat ashore. Some of the passengers escaped without clothing. The fire was caused by explosion of a kerosene lamp.

From Savannah.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1[illegible].—The steamers Idaho and Lee have arrived from Savannah. Of that city it is said that at no time during the past ten years has there been more activity among shipping and in trade generally than at present.

The Herald contains a circular from General Tillson setting forth certain rules for the government of freedmen. They are therein informed that they will not be subsisted in idleness by the Government and the whites are assured that they will be held to good faith in their just contracts with the freedmen.

Fire at New York.

NEW YORK, Oct 17.—The bonded warehouses of Harris & Ashley, 1 and 4 Bridge street, were destroyed by fire at an early hour this morning. The buildings were stocked with cotton, whisky and flour. The value of the cotton is estimated at $700,000, supposed to be fully insured.

Great Union Gains in Pennsylvania.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 1[illegible].—John Covode, chairman of the Union State Committee, furnishes the following:

"The result of the State election in Pennsylvania has not been correctly reported. In 12 counties the official vote overruns the vote of 1864, and leaves the Union candidates a clear majority of 17,000. The balance of the State—24 counties—gives from [illegible],000 to 7,000 Union majority. The majority on the home vote will certainly exceed that of President Lincoln, on the home and army vote by several thousand. The Union party will have two thirds of both branches of the Legislature. The Union party gains in [illegible] of the 42 counties officially returned.

North Carolina Affairs.

RALEIGH, N. C., Oct. 1[illegible].—The Convention yesterday continued the discussion of the State debt. A resolution was passed requesting the President to remove all negro troops from the State.

McClellan Coming Back.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1[illegible].—General McClellan is expected to arrive in this city from Europe in four weeks. Twenty ocean steamers cleared here yesterday—two for Europe and most of the others for our Southern ports.

Things in Mississippi.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—The Herald's Jackson, Mississippi, correspondent says strong fears are expressed in regard to next years cotton crop in Mississippi. The depredations of contending armies have left the facilities necessary for the production of the staple in a very dilapidated condition. There is also a great scarcity of stock and implements indispensable in the planting, culture, and preparation for market. Planters appear to lack the energy and practicability requisite for proceeding with the work under the new order of things. In the matter of labor the negroes are disposed to imitate those who were formerly their masters.

A. H. Stephens Again.

BOSTON, Oct. 17.—The Post of this city says Alexander H. Stephens was entertained at a private dinner at the Revere House yesterday evening, by General Fairchild, of Chelsea. Stephens said it was his policy to support the policy of President Johnson for the reconstruction of the Union to the full extent of his ability and influence.

Union Majority in Georgia.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Savannah advices of the 12th state that the unconditional Union ticket is receiving large majorities in the State.

The [illegible] to-day between Dexter and Butler was won by Dexter in three straight heats. Time, 2 27, 2 31 and 2 29.

The Mining Interests of the West.

A meeting of gentlemen interested in mining affairs in the Western and Pacific States was held to-day, for the purpose of forming a permanent association. The object of the organization is the developing of the resources of the country. J. P. Curry was chosen chairman and J. L. Douglass Secretary. The following persons were appointed to obtain signatures for a general meeting. Nevada, H. G. Worthington; Idaho, Gen. M. M. McCarver; California, G. F. Bolton; Montana, J. H. Sage; New York, Frank Fuller, Walter E. Newton, Livingston Satterlee, Arizona, J. Silversmith, Oregon, Ex-Gov. Geo. L. Curry.

REBEL NAVAL OFFICERS NOT TO LOSE THEIR RIGHTS OF CITIZENSHIP.—Attorney General Speed, under date of August 12th, publishes the following opinion:

Hugh McCullough, Secretary of the Treasury—Sir: I have the honor to say in reply to your letter of the 7th inst., that in my opinion, if the two persons to whom you refer as having resigned commissions in the naval service of the United States and accepted employment in the rebel naval service, were born in the United States, or, if born in a foreign country, were or have been naturalized as citizens of the United States, are, if otherwise qualified, competent, according to the Act of June 28, 1864, to be officers of vessels of the United States.

If they were citizens before they engaged in rebellion they did not lose their citizenship by becoming traitors. They became liable to suffer the pains and penalties which the law inflicts upon convicted traitors, but I am not aware that forfeiture of citizenship is one of those pains and penalties.

Belonging as they do, according to the statement in your letter, to certain classes of traitors who have been pardoned by the President, they are liable at any time to be tried, convicted and punished for their treason. Their conduct and association also impressed upon them the qualified character of enemies, but did not destroy their inherent character as citizens which, by birth or otherwise, they acquired.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,
JAMES SPEED, Attorney General.

STILL VIBRATING.—From every quarter we hear accounts of the "Great Earthquake." It is the universal theme of discourse. Nature is out of her convulsions, but men are still nervous. A hundred men yesterday felt as many earthquakes, all distinct, no two at precisely the same hour; real earthquakes, there could be no mistaking it; and each one was positive he felt it distinctly. In fact, the ground has been shaking ever since, and a thousand weather-wise souls prognosticate destruction to the city "before the thing is done with." One man passing along the street, suddenly throws out his hands and declares he was wellnigh prostrated by an earthquake. Another gives the cornice at the southwest corner of the old Custom-house block just forty-eight hours to come down. He feels the ground quaking every hour, and the plaster [illegible] A man piling lumber on Stuart street declares that he was almost precipitated into the bay from the top of a lumber pile. And so on. At a moderate estimate, taking the statement of each man to be true, we may set the earthquakes of yesterday down at about four hundred and fifty, and still more coming.—S. F. Call, October 11th.

SOUTHERN PATRIOTISM SKY HIGH.—If any fretful "radical" continues to doubt the "conservative" authority that patriotism is all alive and well in the South, let him read and [illegible] the following passage from an oration delivered last Fourth of July in R[illegible], Georgia:

Venerable as the revolving [illegible] in our anniversaries of freedom in this [illegible] of time. Venerable as the abacus on the citadel of [illegible] ness, thou well spring of hope. Hem[illegible] of liberty, we venerate thy habitation. Monument of immortality, we adorn thy worth. Pharos of ages, we hail thy glimmerings mid the cataracts of life. Almanac of the country, we would utter thy welcome with [illegible] awe.

AN OCTOGENARIAN COMPOSITOR.—The oldest compositor in the United States, says the St. Louis Democrat, is the venerable W. L. Barry, of Lebanon, Tennessee. He [illegible] setting type in 1798, during the elder Adams' administration, and was employed at the case sixty years. He is now in his eighty-seventh year, and is apparently as hale and hearty as when in the midsummer of his life. He was well [illegible] with Ben Franklin, and comes down to us as a sort of connecting link between that eminent printer and the compositor of the present day. Long may he survive.

The New York News calls the rebel General Robert E. Lee, the "brightest illustration of American virtue, the best type of American humanity and civilization." Does the News mean to do a willful injustice to the memory of our illustrious townsman, Benedict Arnold?—Norwich (Conn.) Bulletin.

In the Wirz trial, September 9th, Lieutenant-Colonel Chandler, formerly in the rebel service, who made an inspection of the Andersonville prison, testified to the indifference of Gen. Winder to the health and comfort of the prisoners. Winder said to him it would be better to let one half of the prisoners die, so that they could take care of the remainder. Winder was afterward promoted.

INDIANA.—The next Legislature of Indiana has a United States Senator to elect to succeed Henry S. Lane. Governor Morton, Speaker Colfax and his colleague, Godlove S. Orth, are already named for the position. Daniel W. Voorhees is said to be the Democratic candidate.

It is reported that Dill, the editor and publisher of the Memphis Grenada—Jackson—Meridian—Atlanta Augusta-Southern Confederacy Appeal, has obtained a pardon.

MONDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 23, 1865

The Copperheads and the "Unconquered" Rebels--Fusion Proposed

The dearest wish of the violent Northern Copperheads, such as compose the Democratic party in Oregon, is to form a combination with the disaffected in the South and get possession of the Government again. But a difficulty arises in the way. If they let it be known that this is their delib rate purpose, the loyal men of the North will outvote them all combined. If they take the position which the Maine and New York Democrats have recently assumed their old political associates of the South will side with their opponents, considering them the more honest, trustworthy and magnanimous party. Altogether, it seems somewhat difficult for the Copperheads to get their Southern friends to associate with them just now. But your "Democrat" is skilled in the arts of political jugglery and when he discovers he can't win with one set of principles he lays them aside and adopts another. Thus in some of the States we now find him exhausting the whole vocabulary of laudatory words to praise the principles the measures and the men he denounced bitterly, but a single year ago.

Throughout the whole country, however, there are considerable numbers of hard headed "Democrats" who cannot be made to realize the great changes and results of the last five years. Those persons of great expectations even now seriously propose to undo all that has been done, to re-establish the right of secession, to re-enslave the black race, to pay the Confederate debt, and to bring back the era of "Democratic" domination again. These unhappy people are somewhat unequally distributed over the country. Oregon, in proportion to her population, seems to have many more than her share. Than these, we have no other kind of "Democrats" among us. They are the unconquered and the unconquerable of the North. They answer exactly to a similar class in the South, who declare they will never bow to the yoke of the Yankee Government. These classes by a law of natural affinity, will combine together. We will give our "Democratic" readers the benefit of a statement of what their allies in the South propose to do. We copy from an article in the Mobile Tribune:

The eleven States lately "confederate" will soon have in the United States Senate, twenty two Senators, and in the other House, at least 54 members. With this political power, if they do not obtain justice for their people it will be because they are imbecile fools. If they will put themselves under the leadership of that great statesman and diplomatist, W. W. Boyce of South Carolina, I guarantee that he will control the Government. This political power skillfully managed can make Presidents tremble, and the leaders of party to crawl on their bellies before it.

When the Government shall return to its ancient principles and precedents, as I believe it will, it will pay for much of the property taken and destroyed during the war. It is constitutionally bound to pay the owners of slaves for abolition of that institution, and I do not despair of the fulfillment of that obligation. It is, also, according to the general principles of law, bound to pay the damages occasioned by their recent gunpowder explosion in this city. Sic utere tuo ut alienum non laedas, saith the law. This maxim was violated by the explosion, and the liability attaches.

If we don't have whom we choose for the next President of the United States, it will be our folly.

This declaration accords precisely with the views of the Copperheads. The only objection to the plan is that it is entirely impossible to carry it into effect. Can't some of the organs of the Oregon "Democracy" propose something a little more feasible than the foregoing? Fusion to secure these ends will not meet with the most complete success. The "unconquered" of the South will not soon receive much aid from their political friends of the North, since the Copperheads here are too few in number to help them.

SEIZURE OF THE STEAMER ORIZABA.—The steamer Orizaba, now lying at this place, has been seized by Collector Adams on a charge of a gross violation of the U. S. Revenue laws. The nature of the offense is as follows: On her last trip from this port to San Francisco the Orizaba met the steamer Active a few miles below the Custom House, and just inside of the Columbia river bar. The Active was on her way to this place from the foreign port of Victoria. Passengers and baggage, and we know not what besides, were transferred from the Active to the Orizaba, and the latter continued her voyage to San Francisco. A proceeding of this kind is a very grave offense against the laws. The regulations against such transactions are very stringent, as, indeed, they should be, in order to prevent frauds upon the Government. Were cases of this kind permitted to pass without investigation and forfeiture, there would be no end to smuggling. In conformity with the requirements of law, the Collector seized the Orizaba promptly on her return here. She will be released whenever her owners or agents give the bonds which the law requires.

While we are on this subject we may as well say that there appears to us to be a fixed purpose on the part of certain and numerous persons along this coast to make what money they can by the unlawful business of smuggling. They employ every device which ingenuity and avarice can suggest to enable them to evade the law, to bring in forbidden goods and avoid the penalties which are prescribed for the offense. Several persons are making themselves quite notorious by their being frequently implicated in these unlawful proceedings. There is no doubt but that this illegitimate trade has been very lucrative to many parties. It is not long since the Pacific was seized at this place on a charge of smuggling. That steamer is still running under bonds and we learn that the Secretary of the Treasury declines to release her—it being her second offence of the kind. The frequent occurrence of these seizures shows that something is wrong, and indicates plainly enough that the parties accused are not free from blame. When vessels meet each other, as in the case of the Orizaba and Active, it is impossible to know what goods are transferred from one to the other. It looks very much as if this meeting was arranged between the two ships for an especial purpose. But whether this be true or not it is certain that the laws have been violated in this instance and that the parties are liable to receive the penalty. In this and in every other similar case we desire to see the law enforced with the utmost rigor.

THE DAILY MAIL.—On Saturday morning we received the following telegram from Senator Williams in relation to our daily mail. We presume the mail will still be carried by those who are now performing the service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18. Editor OREGONIAN: Wells Fargo & Co.'s bid for the daily mail is accepted. GEO. H. WILLIAMS.

BAKER COUNTY.—We learn that the Hon. Samuel Colt, representative from Baker county, but now at the East, has been apprised of the call for a special Legislative session and that he will most probably be here in time to fill his seat. The people of Baker county will be gratified to have their representative in his place at the appointed time. We shall be very glad to hear of his arrival in Oregon again.

NEVADA NOMINEE.—The Union State Convention of Nevada, lately in session, nominated D. R. Ashley for Congress. He will be elected without doubt. In no State are the Copperheads in such a condition of utter torpidity as in Nevada. We believe there is not a Democratic newspaper in the State.

Sanborn says there are many tribes north of the Platte river, that wish to return to their homes were it safe for them to travel, and recommends that an escort be provided for them. The constitution adopted [illegible] provides that [illegible] by the name of the Mechanics' Institute Association [illegible] the city of Portland. [illegible] OF FRONT ST.—In view of the [illegible] the Council have allowed until the 1st day of March next for the improvement of Washington street from the west line of Front street to the west line of [illegible] street. The manner in which the work [illegible] is similar to that lately [illegible] on Front street [illegible] street. Messrs. J. H. Perry & Co. are at work on the improvement [illegible] a thorough the same [illegible] private enterprise [illegible] of the beginning so early [illegible] improvements of this character are [illegible] The Nicolson pavement [illegible] been put down under the [illegible] up to the very last hour [illegible] is interested to keep the work [illegible] On the last board of flooring [illegible] the completion of the pavement [illegible] by the interruption of putting [illegible] water [illegible] and the slow grading. The pavement has [illegible] owing to these circumstances and the bad weather [illegible] otherwise would. We are [illegible] not be let for the Nicolson pavement [illegible] could be laid during the summer in pleasant weather [illegible] of 25 per cent. would revert to [illegible] 10 per cent less in cost, and 15 per cent [illegible] One advantage gained by the [illegible] is, very probably that can be laid during the winter, or at all times, and the more [illegible] the more stone there will be put [illegible] result in the end, the cost, however, must [illegible] If the city have in contemplation among other [illegible] for 1866, they should not delay the [illegible] until June.

During the [illegible] Mayfield and Haman ran their mile single [illegible] to programme, won by Brush hill [illegible] race was very close, being nearly a dead heat [illegible] the double-team trot was expected and the [illegible] brought to the pole amid the cries of the [illegible] selling pools. Large pools were [illegible] and being obstinate the race was broken up by [illegible] ruling out Mr. Acker who [illegible] Two teams then went and pools were [illegible] Mr. Wells took the first and second heats [illegible] driving Sherman and Mary. The [illegible] has been received with great effect in nearly [illegible] city in the East, in London and other [illegible] Mr. R. G. His present [illegible] were illustrated by the first artists in [illegible] the supervision of Mr. Pearson, from sketches [illegible] John Martin of London. The [illegible] the Theatre will be open from 10 a. m. until [illegible] of tickets.

[illegible]—After the lapse of many years of [illegible] by the unhappy condition of the country [illegible] it is the privilege of the Typo[illegible] in the South to again furnish to and [illegible] various Unions of the States the regular [illegible] We are in receipt of the quarterly report [illegible] (Ga.) Union, No. 36, in the account [illegible] workings of the craft. We hope [illegible] meet with the same unhappy circumstance [illegible] the past four years and that [illegible] so much desired on the part of printers [illegible] mutual in all sections, among all men [illegible] of Savannah and hail the re-establish[illegible] privileges with gratification. Practical [illegible] in the cause of the insurgents, as well [illegible] of the Government, and a few of the killed [illegible] belonging to the Savannah Union.

[illegible] ship Oriaba did not leave on [illegible] and in consequence of the situation [illegible] the United States officers for the [illegible] and the California Steam Navigation [illegible] none can tell definitely the hour [illegible] Bonds are required. We presume [illegible] of having done wrong will be [illegible] and the petition for clemency forward [illegible] of the Treasury upon conviction. [illegible] Frank McDowan, who had been viewing [illegible] from prison grates quite recently, was [illegible] of his inability to pay. To day [illegible] will be called upon to answer for having [illegible] Couch's wharf. A half breed named John Gallagher will also appear [illegible]

[illegible]—A word about the manner of pack[illegible] may not be amiss. Boxes should be [illegible] holding forty five or fifty pounds of fruit [illegible] lumber—one or both sides planed [illegible] lining the boxes with paper. [illegible] with stems down [illegible] in the box. If necessary, the box may [illegible] with smaller fruit, pressing on the cover [illegible] moving in the box. When the [illegible] packed and nailed up, mark so that what was [illegible] the box in packing will then be the top [illegible] these matters will handsomely pay the ship[illegible]

[illegible] OPEN FOR IMPROVEMENT.—The streets [illegible] having been declared free for use [illegible] in that locality ask the city that grades be [illegible] that they may proceed in accordance with [illegible] their improvements. Like the grow[illegible] city is constantly spreading itself taking in [illegible] a broader area of space. The hills [illegible] begin to come down and furnish [illegible] the base to build [illegible] for the habitations of industrious peo[illegible]

[illegible] CHANGES HANDS—AN ERROR CORRECTED.—[illegible] we stated that W. H. Newell formerly of [illegible] was going to Salem to [illegible] in the Statesman of that place. It turns out [illegible] that we were slightly in error. Mr. Newell [illegible] has purchased the Statesman of Walla Walla and [illegible] conduct that paper instead of the Statesman [illegible] A very natural mistake [illegible] the Salem Statesman will have [illegible] without anyone [illegible]

[illegible]—The schooner [illegible] with dates from [illegible] arrived at Astoria on Friday [illegible] bar to-day. The steamship [illegible] and by [illegible] of weather on the last outward voyage and lay at [illegible] days, finally [illegible] A. M. The barkentine [illegible] with 1000 [illegible] of fruit, 200 dry hides, and about 60 [illegible] takes at 12.30 on Friday for San Francisco [illegible] six miles at sea.

[illegible]—This eminent gentleman officiated [illegible] M. E. Church yesterday interesting a very large [illegible] and evening.

[illegible] Singing School this evening at 7½.

[illegible] JOE JOHNSTON.—General [illegible] has been defeated as a candidate for [illegible] of the Richmond and Danville Railroad. [illegible] of the stockholders voted for him, but [illegible] vote of the State was cast against him [illegible] was his successful competitor.

[illegible] little town of Marietta, Georgia, [illegible] mass of ruins, and the greater part of [illegible] dwelt there in happiness are now home[illegible] hopeless. So it is with the entire [illegible] country from Atlanta to Chattanooga.

THE SOUTHERN CHURCHES.—The New York Churchman [illegible] the [illegible] Southern ecclesiastical [illegible]

[illegible] of these [illegible] which [illegible] Church [illegible] passion or prejudice [illegible] that the moral name [illegible] of the Church itself in spite of the [illegible] of Christian will [illegible] the [illegible] and [illegible] during all their communities [illegible] the revolution [illegible] which [illegible] gration is already [illegible] among them [illegible] by their persistent ecclesiastical [illegible] will be [illegible] of strength [illegible] in the future that future in which [illegible] evidently [illegible] as [illegible] in the Revolution became [illegible] the national organization? [illegible] of ecclesiastical leaders indulge in [illegible] dreams [illegible] anything short of the [illegible] degenerating influence of slavery lead to such a preposterous policy?

THE TRICKED CREDITORS.—These were the claims against the Mexican Republic and [illegible] a protest [illegible] French [illegible] of the [illegible] Maximilian's Empire. An English writer [illegible] describes the manner in which these fraudulent [illegible]

The Mexican President Miramon, a few months before his fall obtained [illegible] a Swiss banker [illegible] $15,000,000, partly in [illegible] and partly in depreciated paper for which he had [illegible] the [illegible] Government he engaged to pay Jecker the enormous sum of $14,000,000. After the accession of President Juarez, the Swiss banker came forward [illegible] his $14,000,000, to which Juarez naturally enough replied: "No; you have played [illegible] game [illegible] and you cannot expect [illegible] you such great profits on money that was [illegible] to our political adversaries [illegible] power." Jecker [illegible] as a France subject and claimed the intervention [illegible] French [illegible] of the consequences we know [illegible] but fear that worse remains behind.

IRISH POLICY.—[illegible] writes [illegible] the Emerald Isle to his friend in Ireland: "[illegible] fine country to get a living in. All we have to do is to get a three cornered box and fill it with brick and carry it till the top of a four story building, and the man at the top does all the work."

The New York Times says it [illegible] political circles that Morgan Jones, the member of Congress elect for the Lower district of that city, intends to resign his seat in time for a special election to be held in November, and that [illegible] Wood intends to be his successor.

HONESTY.—We learn that a business firm in Arkansas, who was indebted to a house in this city to the amount of four thousand dollars previous to the breaking out of the rebellion, have within a few days past paid the debt, principal and interest. A member of the Arkansas firm is now in this city making purchases of goods.—Boston Journal.

David Lackey, a Wisconsin volunteer, who went safely through a score of battles got drowned [illegible] as soon as he reached his home in a half barrel of water in which he was trying to bathe.

The number of regular battles fought during the late rebellion is 252.

THE OFFENSIVE BREATH.—We hold it inexcusable in any person, male or female, when they subject us to an annoyance which a very little trouble on their part would obviate. Especially is this the case where the unfortunate possessor of a bad breath will persist in button holding and in rudeing his view upon us to our manifest mental and physical discomfort. If these good people would use the SOZODONT it would not only render them acceptable acquaintances, but would at once greatly improve their teeth and breath.

Sold by all Druggists.

Every man of family could save from fifty to one hundred dollars a year by constantly keeping a bottle of Hall's Pulmonary Balsam in his house—as one dose will always cure a cold when it first comes on—thereby averting fever and billious complaints. It is sold for 50 cents only.

DANGER AHEAD.—Be warned in time. Have you a slight cough? If so, do not neglect it, thinking it of no consequence. Consumption begins in this way therefore, be warned in time and use the only remedy that will at once relieve you of that pain in the chest, and stop that hacking cough. NEWELL'S PULMONARY SYRUP never fails of giving speedy and permanent relief. Do not be afraid of using it freely, it contains no nauseating or deleterious drug.

MRS. S. A. ALLEN'S WORLD'S HAIR RESTORER AND DRESSING.—You cannot be bald or gray [illegible] that [illegible] so known can blemish your Hair, if you use them. Sold by all Druggists.

Agents, Hostetter, Smith & Dean, San Francisco.

The Wirtz Trial

WASHINGTON, September 21, 1865.—The Wirtz Military Commission re-assembled to-day.

Captain Wirtz is somewhat improved in health.

J. Burns W[illegible] testified, among other things, that General H. W. C[illegible]b came to Andersonville on the 4th of March and [illegible] the paroled prisoners [illegible] were [illegible] if we desired to hear the General [illegible] went [illegible] myself among others [illegible] the Second [illegible] General [illegible] I think was drawn at the [illegible] speech [illegible] the prisoners [illegible] had been captured [illegible] all hang [illegible] his way he further said "If the prisoners [illegible] up to your house, take your chickens or your pig, hang them; if a prisoner comes up [illegible] speak to your women, hang him;" he then referred to President Lincoln and said, "If President Lincoln ever gets me he will hang me, and if I ever get President Lincoln I will hang him." In referring to the conduct of Captain Wirtz he said that he was glad to find the state of things at Andersonville such as they were. He recommended Captain Wirtz as being a very meritorious and efficient officer, doing his duty and doing it well. He said to the Confederate troops around him, "Look over into that stockade," pointing his finger directly to it, "go look over there and compare yourselves with those men, and go home and kiss your wives and sweethearts and see if you cannot gain your independence." He further said in connection with the graveyard and the treatment he would give to the prisoners, "I would treat the prisoners well, I would feed them well, I would care for them"—his voice, when he said he would care for them, assumed a stentorian tone; he spoke harshly and as if with deep meaning, pointing at the same time with his hand to the graveyard, it meaning that would be the care he would give them. The speech was received with some hurrahing, but not so enthusiastically as I have seen speeches received in other places.

Ambrose Spencer, residing nine miles from Andersonville, testified that he visited the prison every month, and had ample opportunities of ascertaining its condition, which was as wretched and degrading as the mind could well conceive; the odor from the stockade could be detected a distance of two miles; the section of country was well supplied with mills, both for grain and lumber; it was probably the most densely wooded of any in the United States; as to fertility, he believed Southwestern Georgia was regarded as the garden spot of the Confederacy, from which immense quantities of supplies were drawn for the army; there was an uncommon large supply of vegetables in the Summer of 1864, some of which were taken from Americus to Andersonville for the use of Confederate officers; the witness had knowledge of the ladies in the neighborhood gathering clothing and food for the relief of the prisoners; General Winder, in the presence of himself, wife and several other ladies, said with an oath, that he believed the country was becoming Yankee, and he would be damned if he wouldn't put a stop to it, if not one way he would another; the witness replied that the exhibition of humanity was not evidence of the fact of that assertion. Winder said it was a slur on the Confederate Government, and a covert attack upon himself; the witness informed him that the supplies were forwarded at the request of Rev. Mr Davies, when General Winder replied "That is a damned lie; as for himself, he would as soon the d——d Yankees should die there as anywhere else; he believed it would be better." General Winder's language on that occasion was utterly unfit to be repeated in the presence of ladies, but the meaning was that he could very easily make loyal women of them by putting them in a certain condition; in a subsequent conversation with R. B. Winder, Lieutenant Reed and Captain Wirtz, Reed observed that if General Winder had done as he wanted him to do, he (Reed) would have made a good "spec" out of the clothing and supplies. Captain Wirtz said if he had his way, he would have a house built for certain infamous purposes, in which he would place these benevolent women; R. B. Winder concurred in the remark by laughing; at the laying out of the prison W. S. Winder was there superintending; the witness asked him if he was not going to erect sheds and shelter, and why he was cutting down the trees, to which he replied "I am going to build the pen so as to destroy more d——d Yankees than can be destroyed at the front;" Gen. J. H. Winder always swore when the name of Andersonville was named; the witness described him as bereft of all the feelings of humanity; in fact, a brutal man.

Dr. J. B. Head, who was on duty as surgeon at Andersonville in July and August, 1864, testified in relation to affairs at the hospital, including the sufferings of the prisoners from disease and from the want of proper diet, shelter and medicine; men would often die from the want of stimulants; when he visited his home at Americus, he mentioned to his wife the sufferings of the prisoners and she went around the town and gathered considerable supplies, which were forwarded to Andersonville; General Winder expressed himself as glad that such things had been sent; this cleared the way for a second contribution, which was larger than the first; the third time his wife went about the country and gathered provisions and clothing, and some of the ladies went up with them to Andersonville; Lieutenant Reed swore that the goods should not go into the prison; some said that he (Head) should be shot, and others that he should be hanged for his agency in procuring these supplies; the witness then called on General Winder and informed him that it was in accordance with his permission that supplies had been carried into the stockade; General Winder got out of his chair, turned round, and said, "I do not know how in hell and damnation there are so many sympathizers for the damned Yankees;" to this the witness replied, "This is only a mission of charity and mercy," when Gen. Winder exclaimed, "Every damned Yankee sympathizer and damned Yankee ought to sink into hell;" when the train came down with Confederate soldiers the provisions were distributed among them and the ladies returned to their homes.

Charles H. Russell was recalled, and related two instances of cruelty by James Duncan, a rebel in charge of the distribution of bread in the Quartermaster's Department; a prisoner stooped to pick up a crust, when Duncan jumped from the wagon and kicked him three or four times; the man died several days thereafter in the stockade. Another poor fellow, who asked for bread, was similarly treated by this same Duncan. The witness was asked if Duncan was now in Court. He responded in the affirmative and pointed him out.

Duncan, after standing up to show himself, was requested to take a seat.

The Court informed Duncan that he must remain here.

Mr. Baker—He is our witness.

Judge Advocate Chipman—Do you consider that a special honor?

Mr. Baker—No; but he has been subpœnaed for the defense.

W. W. Crandall was recalled, and swore that Duncan took a picture from a prisoner named Armstrong, who was in the stocks, the picture being that of a near friend. The prisoner pleaded earnestly for its return, when Duncan said he might consider himself damned fortunate if he got out of the stocks at all. Duncan also helped himself to the prisoner's money.

Samuel M. Riker testified that prisoners were robbed at Richmond before they were conveyed to Andersonville; at the latter place the Government equipage was taken from the soldiers and also money over a certain amount. Duncan was on duty in more than one capacity; he was in charge of the bakery and cook house, and was also a Government detective under Captain Wirtz.

E. G. Smith testified that he heard Captain Wirtz order a sentinel to shoot a man who had reached beyond the dead line for water; the sentinel hesitated, when Wirtz said if he did not shoot the damned Yankee he would shoot him (the sentinel); the latter then fired, the ball taking effect in the man's head and killing him instantly.

Benj. B. Dyke, rebel railroad agent at Andersonville, testified that there was a g[illegible] of provisions on hand there at all times, excepting when the place was first opened; the freight trains were regular, from one to six trains according to circumstances, running every day; vegetables in plenty were brought to the depot; the hounds used at the prison belonged to Ben. Harris, who had employed them in catching negroes; the witness knew Duncan, who had arranged with him to sell sundry barrels of syrup.

Ambrose Henshaw testified as to men being shot for approaching the dead line; after one had been killed because he reached out for a crumb of bread, the witness asked Captain Wirtz if he might remove the body. "Yes," said Wirtz, "take him and go to hell with him."

Thomas Walsh, who kept a memorandum [illegible] at Andersonville, read therefrom at the request of the Judge Advocate, by which it appeared that no rations were issued on the 20th of March, 1864, and none were served until three o'clock the next afternoon, and that he had made the entry. A number of sick, weak and hungry [illegible] thing for us all. No rations were issued on April 1st, but the next day, at [illegible] o'clock, a pint of meal and two or three ounces of mule flesh were issued as a ration. The witness said that by paying three dollars to the guard a prisoner could get out to gather wood. He did not know of any man who was sent to the hospital that came out alive. On the 4th of July the prisoners got rations which, being full of maggots, they threw away. Captain Wirtz said on one occasion, "May God Almighty damn me, and forever, if I do not shoot with my revolver the first man who attempts to leave the ranks."

A letter from Wisconsin [illegible] a large [illegible] the Fourth of July [illegible] from other [illegible] of the [illegible] follows:
